The anti-dumping law passed by the Holland Government decrees the destruction, under Government supervision, of $\frac{1}{3}$ of the existing bulb crop, and limits export under license only to actual orders on hand. This is certain to create a shortage in bulbs this fall.

This, together with money exchange uncertainties, would seem to make it more important than ever this year to place your order now.

GENERAL LIST OF Spring-Flowering Bulbs

Spring-flowering bulbs afford the surest and most economical means of getting abundant bloom in the shortest possible time. There is an immense variety of color, form, and blooming season, so that flowers may be had from the earliest spring until the opening of peonies, roses, and summer perennials. Prices are amazingly low this year—an opportunity of a lifetime.

DARWIN TULIPS (May-flowering)

BOTANICAL TULIPS (Species)

for the Rock-Garden

A most interesting group of wild Tulip species native of the mountain slopes and valleys of Central Asia and Asia Minor—lovely odd shapes, many with reflexed petals and curiously twisted, spotted, and reflexed foliage. They simply belong to the rock-garden where their individual beauty stands out most prominently. Here they thrive and increase if left in the ground year in and year out. Plant them in groups of six to twelve among the rock in fairly deep, well-drained pockets.

Fosteriana. Brilliant scarlet, yellow center. Interesting and very rare. $5.50 per doz., $40 per 100.

Hageri. Dark crimson, shaded bronze and yellow. $1.25 per doz., $10 per 100.

Kaufmanniana (Water-Lily Tulip). Creamy white, tinged rosy red on the outside. 6 in. $1 per doz., $7 per 100.

Marjoletti. Soft primrose, shaded carmine-red at base. 14 in. $1.25 per doz., $8 per 100.

Oculis solis (Sun's Eye Tulip). Crimson with black and yellow center. 6 in. $1.25 per doz., $8 per 100.

GENERAL LIST OF Spring-Flowering Bulbs

Spring-flowering bulbs afford the surest and most economical means of getting abundant bloom in the shortest possible time. There is an immense variety of color, form, and blooming season, so that flowers may be had from the earliest spring until the opening of peonies, roses, and summer perennials. Prices are amazingly low this year—an opportunity of a lifetime.
